

Partners in Prayer November - December 2007

*“A wise man has great power, and a man of knowledge increases strength
- Proverbs 24:5*

Praise:

- In some of the classes, attention and behavior have improved.
- Bryan Johnson finally has his own classroom, so he does not have to float between rooms.
- Some teachers who have had health issues are feeling much better.
- Recently, many parents have expressed their deep gratitude that their children can take Bible history classes at their school.
- Nine local public schools have asked for a Bible history teacher or want to expand from part time to fulltime. The demand is overwhelming!

Prayer:

- Continue to pray for our new school funding initiatives: Red Bank High School, East Ridge Middle School, Brown Middle School, Sale Creek Middle/High School and Signal Mountain Middle/High School. All of these schools need designated donations to have or continue their Bible history classes.
- David Adels will be serving as an interim guidance counselor next semester at Ooltewah Middle School. Pray that a good substitute will be found for his Bible history class.
- Some of our teachers have a lot on their plate when they get home from teaching their classes. Pray for their endurance with all their responsibilities.
- Many Bible history teachers do not have their own classroom. Please pray that floating between classrooms will not be an obstacle to their teaching.
- Pray for our board members and teachers who are assisting aging parents and grandparents with health issues.
- Pray that students that are still distractions in the classroom will become more interested in Bible history.
- Pray for more people in the Chattanooga community to become advocates and supporters. There are so many students who would take Bible history classes if they were offered at their schools.
